49th Annual VIRTUAL Graduate & Professional Student Orientation & Networking Event

This is an incredible opportunity for returning and incoming graduate and professional students to virtually engage and network with those in different fields of study as well as with OSU faculty, staff, administrators and alumni, along with corporate partners.

Featuring: Dr. Anne-Marie Nuñez
Professor, Higher Education & Student Affairs
College of Education and Human Ecology
The Ohio State University

Dr. Nuñez’s research explores how to broaden participation for underrepresented groups, including students and faculty, in postsecondary education. Her scholarship has focused on the higher education experiences and trajectories of Latino, first-generation, and migrant students. Another has emphasized institutional diversity in the US, including the role of Hispanic-Serving Institutions in promoting college access and success. A third has focused on fostering supportive climates for faculty and administrators to advance inclusivity in the academy. Her research has been published in several journals, including Educational Researcher, Harvard Educational Review, and the American Educational Research Journal.

Dr. Nuñez is the lead author of the book, Latinos in Higher Education and Hispanic-Serving Institutions: Creating Conditions for Success (2013) and the lead editor of the award-winning book, Hispanic-Serving Institutions: Advancing Research and Transformative Practice (2015). For her contributions to research on underrepresented groups, she received the 2011 Association for the Study of Higher Education (ASHE) Council on Ethnic Participation Mildred Garcia Exemplary Scholarship award. Currently, she serves as an Associate Editor of The Journal of Higher Education and an Associate Editor of the Higher Education: Handbook of Theory and Research. She holds a PhD in Education from UCLA, MEd in Education from Stanford University and AB in Social Studies from Harvard University.
